MESSAGE

I would like to offer my thanks and very best wishes to everyone attending this year's World Day of Remembrance for Road Traffic Victims.

This day has a unique importance to condole the families who have lost their loved ones in road crashes on the one hand and on the other hand it is a source of realization to the policymakers to do the needful to lessen the fatalities every year.

Being the Minister of Health and Family welfare my priority would be to enhance the emergency services network and focus on the Post-Crash Care. Government of India has already been doing a lot in this regard. We shall ensure that every victim of road crash could get the best ever first aid on priority in each and every hospital so that 'Golden Hour' could be taken care off. We may try to observe this on national level in 2016.

I render my sincere thanks to the organizers of this day throughout the world for sharing the pains of victims family.
